Bioethics, Citizen Science, & Human Subject Protection: Waiting on the World to Change

September 8-10, 10:30am–1:30pm ET each day via Zoom

Merged for the first time with the biennial Bioethics Symposium*

Join us September 8–10 for our combined human subject protection/bioethics conference, entitled “Bioethics, Citizen Science, and Human Subject Protection: Waiting on the World to Change.” This year’s event will address issues of significant importance to human subject protections and bioethics, including:

- Ethics of engaging patients in research
- Considerations of a research participant and caregiver
- Citizen science and how it fits with traditional research
- Regulatory updates including practical guidance on the Common Rule
- Conducting reviews on emergent health issues/outbreaks
